NO ARRESTS HAVE BEEN MADE AS YET IN JERSEY'S BAFFLING MURDER CASE; PREACHER-SINGER'S LETTERS GIVEN OUT

Letters That Passed Between Rev. Hall And Mrs. Mills Are Sold To Press.

MRS. HALL GRILLED

New York, Oct. 17.—The arrests predicted for today in the Hall-Mills murder mystery at New Brunswick, N. J., were not made. The authorities called Mrs. Frances N. Hall, widow of the dead clergyman; her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and Charlotte Mills, daughter of the murdered choir singer, to the County Court House, and questioned them for hours, but at the end of the long inquisition they were unable to announce any progress in solving the mystery.

Mrs. Hall was confronted with a Hungarian woman who had told the authorities she saw a woman—then strange to her, but later recognized by her as Mrs. Hall from newspaper portraits—walking around the Phillips farm on the afternoon of Thursday, September 14, and apparently surveying the ground where the bodies were found on the following Saturday morning.

Result Unknown
It could not be learned tonight whether this woman had identified Mrs. Hall when she confronted her in the prosecutor's office today. The authorities refused to discuss this. The inference was that the woman had failed to identify Mrs. Hall. Otherwise an arrest probably would have been made at once.

Some time during the night state police officers were expected to take certain of the principals in the case to the scene of the crime and there reconstruct it, but they mysteriously disappeared about 9:30 and have not been located since.

"We have today examined Mrs. Hall and her brothers William and Henry. These examinations were prompted by some new information received which cannot be disclosed. We do not intend the arrest of any person today and any other statement is unauthorized."

Mills Discusses Letters
James Mills did not know tonight just what to make of his daughter Charlotte's selling the letters of his wife and her pastor to the press. "I don't suppose it was right," he said. "If Charlotte gets any money for them, I'll never let her keep a cent of it. I'll take it all from her and use it for the funeral expenses. Yes, I would use her letters to pay for burying her."

Mills insisted he had believed in the purity of his wife's relations with Dr. Hall until he learned what the letters contained. "They shook me up just a bit," he said, adding that he was no longer convinced his wife's relations with the minister were platonic and spiritual.

He was told that despite the letters Mrs. Hall still believed in the integrity of her husband. "She had better get a new pair of glasses," he said.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 17.—Pitting references to another woman who had to content herself with the dregs of a man's love were found in the packet and the scattered letters which were near and around the doctor's body in the Hall-Mills double murder mystery and made public by the public prosecutor here today.

They were replete with such phrases as "I am tired today and want to lie down with you and rest for hours," "That you and I hunger for the same things is what makes our love a perfect love," "She is easily content with the dregs while I give all the best to you."

Another letter reads:—"I don't know why I feel as I do today but knowing what I know I know that this was to be. 'Oh I know, O I know that you are my own true heart and that I have your purest love and that God looks down upon it as the one perfect love.' 'I know that you are always near me and that, feeling as we do, that we are never alone.'"

Restraining Order Not Made Permanent

New York, Oct. 17.—Federal Judge Learned Hand today reserved decision on application by American and foreign owned steamship lines to make permanent the restraining order putting into effect the Daugherty ruling on liquor even under seal when touching at American ports.

Meanwhile Judge Hand extended the stay he granted last week until he should reach a decision. This decision, he indicated, probably would be rendered before October 22, the latest date on which the ruling has been ordered into effect. Extension of the stay affected both American and foreign lines.

FRIEND APPLIES QUAKER MEDIATION TO END CHINA'S WAR

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 18. (U. P.)—The prominent part played by J. E. Pratt, a Philadelphia missionary, of the Society of Friends, in bringing to an end the civil war in China and saving Manchuria from desolation, was disclosed today in letters received here.

After the defeat of Chang-Tso-Lin by Mu-Pei-Fu and Chang's retirement toward Manchuria, the two armies faced each other with every prospect of a long and bloody war with the consequent desolation of Manchuria.

General Chang's son, going to Mukden, asked Pratt to interfere and end the war, as no Chinese would even attempt to open negotiations. Accordingly Pratt and Dr. W. A. Young, a Scottish medical missionary, went to the front to attempt to arrange an armistice.

After three trips through a dangerous country unaccompanied, as neither side would allow the other to furnish guards, parley was arranged on a British war vessel and the war was over.

The press of China hailed Pratt and Young as saviors of North China and commended their "courage, perseverance and wisdom."

THREE ARE KILLED IN BIG TRAIN WRECK NEAR SAVANNAH, GA.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 18.—Three persons were killed at Springfield, 28 miles from here today in a wreck on the Savannah and Atlanta railroad. A washed out trestle was reported to be the cause of the wreck.

Negro Gambler Is Confessed Murderer

Pittsburg, Oct. 18.—George Owens, alias "Stack of Dollars," negro gambler and alleged gunman, confessed to the shooting of Willie Powell, aged 25, here today. Powell died in the St. Francis hospital where he had been removed directly after the shooting.

Owens was arrested within a comparatively few hours at Youngstown, Ohio, and the shooting was said to have grown out of the receipt of a letter by Owens that Powers had been "running around" with a woman friend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pealzer of Walnut street, are visiting in Scranton, where they were called by the death of Mrs. Pealzer's father.

COAL COMMISSION MEETS TO ORGANIZE; HAMMOND FOR HEAD

Washington, Oct. 18.—President Harding's coal commission, appointed to ferret out the facts with regard to the coal situation, began work today. They met this morning in the office of George Otis, head of the United States Geological Survey, to organize and arrange a program. It is thought that John Hayes Hammond will be chosen to head the commission. Prior to the organization meeting the commission called on President Harding at the White House.

INDIANA WOMAN IS HELD FOR INQUIRY INTO TWINS' KILLING

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 18.—The phantom twins which Mrs. Hazel McNally, the blond 25-year-old wife of Frank McNally, 55, is accused of murdering may or may not have been dolls but Mrs. McNally is being held for the grand jury by Prosecuting Attorney Joseph Todd, stating that he had a very strong case against her.

Attorneys for Mrs. McNally stated that they would prove that it was impossible for Mrs. McNally to be a mother following a surgical operation. They are going to prove that the "phantom twins" were dolls and that the whole affair is the result of a desire on the part of Mrs. McNally to satisfy the longing of Mr. McNally to be called a father.

CHICAGO BANDITS GET AWAY WITH BIG HAUL OF JEWELRY

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Bandits last night robbed Max Mosier, a jewelry salesman, of $300,000 worth of unset diamonds. Mosier left the Congress hotel in company with a friend who volunteered to pilot him to the railroad station. They had just passed the portals of the hotel when a black automobile swept up alongside of them and one of the occupants of the bandit car grabbed the loot and was gone in a twinkling.

This robbery of Mosier brings the total of robberies in this city up to nearly $2,000,000 within the past few weeks.

Prominent Oil Man Is Dead At Titusville Home

Titusville, Oct. 18.—G. H. Westgate, Independent Oil refiner and principal owner of the Westgate Oil Refineries died here today following a long illness. Westgate was well known in the oil industry and was the founder of the American Oil Refining Company, the United Pipe Line Co., and the Pure Oil Co.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CLEARFIELD CHAPTER OF AMERICAN RED CROSS

The Annual meeting of the Clearfield Chapter of the American Red Cross is called for Wednesday, Oct. 25, 1922, to meet in the High School Auditorium at 4 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing an Executive Committee, considering reports and transacting such other business as the Chapter may be competent to transact.

All members of the Chapter are urgently requested to attend. A large attendance is requested.

LEGION WILL MEET AT SAN FRANCISCO FOR SESSION OF '23

New Orleans, Oct. 18.—The American Legion convention here today voted unanimously for the appointment of committees for the fight to put through the adjusted compensation without further delay.

It was also voted to unanimously accept the report of the resolutions and legislative committees on their work. There was no denunciation of either President Harding or the present administration in the reports. The New York state delegation seconded the motion.

New Orleans, Oct. 18.—Committee were prepared to present resolutions at the morning session of the American Legion convention which is in session here, to carry forward the fight for the bonus. Resolutions were also presented demanding that the personnel of the Navy be kept up to its present standard.

A resolution was also presented advocating that the universal service bill be pushed thru and that the President have the authority to act in time of need without further legislation being enacted by Congress.

The resolution denouncing the failure of the Bonus Bill did not carry any reflections on President Harding and the present Congress. An effort by a small minority was made to have this included in the resolution but was blocked by friends of the administration on the floor.

New Orleans, Oct. 17.—The American Legion in annual convention here heard President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, renew the faith of union labor that its support was always behind the government and upholding hands of those who fought for maintenance of its principles.

It received the felicitations of wounded veterans of European nations who came here last week to attend the convention of the Inter-Allied Veterans' Federation upon the work it was doing in behalf of disabled veterans.

It was pointed to by representatives of the veterans of earlier wars as heir to the custodianship of the principles they fought to uphold. The heads of the Spanish War Veterans, the G. A. R. and the United Confederate Veterans brought their greetings and goodspeed.

With an unexpectedness that left many delegates to the convention hardly realizing what had happened the report of the committee on time and place for the next convention brought in its report awarding the convention to San Francisco. New Jersey, which had sought the convention for Atlantic City led off in a movement that made the selection unanimous.

New Orleans, Oct. 17.—With the declaration of Hanford MacNider, a national commander, that the American Legion regarded the interests of the disabled service men as its first responsibility still ringing in their ears, World War veterans began the second day's session of their convention, here with indications that the rehabilitation question again would be the chief topic under discussion.

In this connection the legionaires were considering the bulletin issued to all post commanders, by Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant, advising them that millions of dollars collected during the war for benefit of soldiers and sailors, rightfully belonged to the American Legion.

After citing court cases and decisions, asserting the legion was the one organization in its class legally to disburse the funds, the national adjutant advised the commanders to take proper steps to secure all war chests collections.

The reply of Col. C. R. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans Bureau, to the rehabilitation commission attack on the government record of performance in dealing with veterans was also receiving attention of the former soldiers.

In his statement he declared that the Veterans Bureau was not criticized for any mistakes made under the first Langley act, inasmuch as it had nothing to do with the selection of sites.

ALLIANCE BETWEEN ALLIES AND RUSSIA LATE DEVELOPMENT

Paris, Oct. 18.—An alliance with the allies and Soviet Russia was looked forward to here today following a statement of Premier Poincare that negotiations had been opened with the Lenin government.

The statement followed the return of Jules Herriot, mayor of Lyons, and a radical socialist in the Chamber of Deputies, from Russia where he had been negotiating with the Russian Soviet.

MRS. ROSIER FACES JURY FOR MURDER OF HUSBAND AND CLERK

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Catherine Rosier went on trial for murder before Judge Barrett in quarter sessions court here this morning charged with the murder of her husband, Oscar Rosier, and his pretty stenographer, Mildred "Jerry" Reckitt, in his office last January. She will be tried first on the Miss Reckitt action and upon the outcome of this will depend the action on her husband's case. The defendant is very pale but perfectly calm and apparently unconcerned.

Some startling revelations were promised by the prosecuting attorney. An extra panel of 100 jurors was impaneled and it was expected that the selection of a jury would take all of today and most of tomorrow.

WAR MOTHERS ARE HOLDING SESSION AT ALTOONA TODAY

Altoona, Oct. 18.—The annual convention of the War Mothers of Pennsylvania convened here this morning with War Mother Mrs. Grown presiding. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Rhoades of Altoona and Mrs. Wambaugh, a War Mother.

Convention of representatives and routine matters pertaining to the convention were gone through with this morning which will continue into the afternoon session.

Election of officers will be held on Thursday.

WALKER F. GEORGE TO GET U. S. SEN. SEAT OF TOM L. WATSON

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 18.—Walker F. George of Vienna won a sweeping victory at the Democratic primaries in this State today for the unexpired term of the late Thos. E. Watson. The victory of George was a sweeping one as his nearest opponent, Gov. W. Hardwick, only carried twenty-five counties. The victory at the primaries is equivalent to election in Georgia.

Business Is Booming In Anthracite Region

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 18 (U. P.)—Business in the anthracite coal region is now booming after a six-month's slump.

Business men report that there is a much better feeling in financial circles since the mine workers received their first pay.

While the pay received by the miners was for one week's work the new amount of money in circulation was noticeable.

Payment on bills accumulated during the long strike were made and merchants believed within two weeks business conditions would be back to near normal.

JOHNSTOWN MAN'S CASE IS BEFORE PARDON BOARD

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 18.—Assistant District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner will appear before the State Board of Pardons which convenes here today in behalf of John Edwards the former Johnstown policeman who was convicted of wife murder.

Edwards states that he found that his wife had been unfaithful and that when he found it to be true kept the secret and made no defense at his trial, stating that he wished to keep the infidelity of his former wife from his daughter, who died recently. Edwards has served 15 years of a life term.

Three Persons Have Narrow Escape In Wreck

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 18.—Three persons narrowly escaped death when an automobile driven by Mrs. E. H. Glasgow of Baw Knox collided with a train at the 32nd street station of the B. & O. here today.

Young Woman Is Killed When Freight Hits Auto

Uniontown, Oct. 18.—Pearl Bonnett, aged 18, was killed and her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Gunn, aged 40, slightly injured when the car which was driven by Miss Bonnett was struck by a fast freight on the B. & O. railroad at Ebans near here today.

Set Batch of Mushrooms, Hatches Blacksnakes

Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 18 (U. P.)—Blacksnake eggs and mushrooms look alike but they are different, according to John Witmer.

Witmer found six large "mushrooms" while walking through a field but laughed at a friend who told they were snake eggs.

John put the "mushrooms" into a jar to prove that he was right. Several days later three tiny blacksnakes broke out of the eggs. Within a week the other eggs hatched out six inch reptiles.

Drought Responsible For Freaks Of Nature

Mt. Carmel, Pa., Oct. 18 (U. P.)—Many freaks of nature were caused by the recent long drought. Trees are blossoming and vines are bearing a second crop of fruit.

A Lavelle farmer has harvested a second crop of grapes from his vines. The man harvested his ripe crop at the proper time, then another set of blossoms developed. The grapes grew to almost normal size and then ripened.

Gubernatorial Candidates Meet and Discuss Issues At Philadelphia Luncheon

PROMISES CLEANUP

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—Gifford Pinchot, Republican nominee for governor, met a crisis in his campaign today with a courage and spirit that won the admiration of hundreds of members of the Pennsylvania League of Voters who attended a luncheon at which the Republican gubernatorial candidate and his Democratic opponent, John A. McSparran, were the principal speakers.

The Republican standard bearer heard with a smile a bitter, personal denunciation of his candidacy, done in the style that McSparran has made famous throughout the State, and, when it came his turn to speak, refused to be drawn into a debate composed principally of vilification, but made his usual careful, studied discussion of the subject assigned, that of the need of reorganization for the State government.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—Just what Gifford Pinchot means by reorganization of the government of Pennsylvania in the interests of more efficient and economic administration of the affairs of the Commonwealth was set forth today by the Republican gubernatorial nominee in his address at a luncheon in the Bellevue Stratford held under the auspices of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters. Prominent among the guests who heard Mr. Pinchot's clearcut call for "cleaning up" at Harrisburg was his Democratic opponent, John A. McSparran.

Declaring the time has arrived when a reorganization of the State's ponderous $50,000,000 corporation is an absolute necessity, Mr. Pinchot told an audience that packed the ball room of the Bellevue Stratford to capacity, and cheered him heartily, that the job must be done in order that Pennsylvania may secure "a modern, up-to-date, business machine, capable of producing the utmost return in service for every dollar the taxpayers to the State devote to its use."

Sketching first in bold relief his general declaration of policies, viz., to bring about a financial reconstruction so that Pennsylvania may be put on a sound financial basis and be able to pay its debts when they are due, and Government reorganization so as to give an effective modern State government, Mr. Pinchot grew philosophical and, out of his own intimate experience in forestry, developed an apt metaphor to illustrate his thoughts on State governmental reorganization.

"Governments grow," he said, "like trees, with advancing age, they become larger, heavier and cover more ground. Like trees, with advancing age, they are likely to develop straggling and irregular branches and, unless pruned here and there under the bark."

"Every kind of tree grows in accordance with a definite, systematic plan. Governments as a rule do not. Governments grow not in accordance with a prearranged scheme but as the needs and methods of thought and even the whims of successive legislatures and executives may dictate. "From time to time, therefore, reorganization becomes a necessity. Such a time has come in Pennsylvania."

"You cannot reorganize a state government merely by cutting out the dead wood and removing superfluous branches. The whole structure must be recast along lines which will result in more service for the taxpayer's dollar."

"That means clearcut responsibility so that no doubt can exist as to who is directly responsible if any (Continued on Page 4).

STATE COLLEGE GRADS TO HAVE HOMECOMING

State College, Pa., Oct. 18.—Extensive plans have been made for the third annual Alumni Homecoming Day which will be celebrated at the Pennsylvania State College over the coming week-end. Hundreds of graduates and former students came each Fall to this very popular celebration, and this year, with interest high in the college emergency building fund campaign, the attendance is expected to be large.

A feature on Saturday, the official homecoming day, will be an accounting of progress on the $2,000,000 drive which opened recently. Pledges are now held by college officials amounting to over $500,000, and this total will be increased when reports are heard from county chairmen at an alumni meeting on Saturday morning. There will be no solicitation of alumni for the fund on this occasion.

President John M. Thomas, will tell of the campaign and the college aims leading to its recognition at a big alumni smoker to be held Saturday night. Alumni in two score Pennsylvania counties are actively engaged in campaign work and thousands of dollars in pledges and cash are coming in every day.

DOG LICENSES INCREASED IN CLEARFIELD COUNTY

Harrisburg, Oct. 17.—The number of dogs being licensed in Clearfield county is on the increase, a report of the Department of Agriculture of Pennsylvania issued today shows. The report states that 30,000 more dogs were licensed in the nine months of this year than during the whole of 1921, Clearfield county showing an increase with every county in the State.

The report gives 5,053 as the number of individual licenses issued; 4 kennel licenses; the number of dogs killed where owners have failed to take out licenses at 60; the number of prosecutions reported 27; damage claims filed 3, for a total amount claimed of $29.30. Of the amounts claimed, $13.60 were settled by owners of the dogs, the report shows.

FAWN KILLED BY DOGS

A dead buck fawn, which had been killed and partly eaten by dogs, was found in the woods near the old Fred Shaw farm site last Thursday by Frank Plympton, who was training a couple of bird dogs in that vicinity. Game Protector W. J. Davis went out Sunday to look the dead deer over with a view to locating the dogs which are said to have been running deer in that locality for some time.

TWO TINY WIRES Each Bell Telephone subscriber is connected to the local central office by wires—two tiny wires. These wires pass through a maze of cables and coils, through delicate apparatus that must be kept in careful adjustment. And that isn't the end of it, for there must be apparatus to connect each telephone here with any other Bell Telephone in the nation. The job of building and maintaining this complicated equipment is done by two-listed men—men who think in terms of never failing service. Theirs too is the task of installing new telephones, and of maintaining them. In addition to their knowledge of telephone construction one outstanding quality characterizes these men—they are imbued with the spirit of courtesy. When they come into your home or your office you find them anxious to do their work quickly, efficiently and neatly. They want you to feel that should they return at some future day you will welcome them. For they know, as do all Bell people, that courtesy pays. THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA H. M. ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The number of men and women earning enough to bring them within the requirements of the Federal Income Tax law has increased 100 per cent. since 1918, according to an official study of tax returns just completed by the Treasury Department.

The increase indicates that conditions are continuously becoming more prosperous for the average resident of the United States, some officials believe.

The increase is most marked, the official study shows, in the number of taxpayers reporting net incomes between $2,000 and $3,000 a year. This class of taxpayers is growing faster than any other group.

The total number of persons of all income groups paying the income tax was reported as follows:

Year.	Total Number Taxpayers.	Preceding Year.

The public school records of Clearfield show that our schools hold at least 96 per cent. of their pupils at the end of Sixth grade and carry them along into Seventh grade and from thence into Junior High. Sixth grade is the stopping place of many of our State school records show, and Clearfield's record is one to be proud of, demonstrating as it does that our schools appeal to both pupil and parent.

More than 11,300,000 passenger automobiles, trucks and other motor vehicles of types necessitating legal registry are now in operation in the United States, according to estimates for October based on official reports to the Government.

At least 1,200,000 new cars will be the total of deliveries during 1922, it is indicated.

In 1921, the number of vehicles officially registered was 10,465,995, according to reports to the Roads Bureau of the Department of Agriculture. In 1915, only 2,445,661 cars were in use, showing that the automobile industry succeeded in popularizing its product to the extent of more than 8,000,000 cars in six years.

Some Coal Operators Must Keep Scrapping

You simply can't keep some coal operators from scrapping and as a result thereof there is "blood on the moon" up in the Brishin country where the Lobb Coal Company and the Guernsey Coal Company are waging a fierce war over the possession of a body of fine Woodward township coal.

The coal is being operated by Walter Lobb, while Asa Spencer, of Philipsburg, the moving spirit in the Guernsey Co., says he is a "pouch" so to speak and has no right or title to the property which Spencer seems to think he ought to have, but which Lobb and about all the facts in the case says he has not.

Possession being nine points of the law and Lobb having that it was up to Spencer to do something and jumping from the records being daily written into "Spire F. G. Chappening's" docket. Spencer and his minions are doing just that.

It is alleged in daily information being made by Lobb that Spencer and his "wrecking crew" visit the disputed mine daily and raise merry L with the workings. They are alleged to have eaved in his headings, tore up his tracks, choked up the air shaft and muscled things up generally, all in direct opposition to and in violation of the criminal statutes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The pernicious pursuers of the peace of mind of Coal Operator Lobb, as detailed in the several informations charging malicious mischief and violation of the mining law are Coal Operator Asa Spencer, Richard Roundley, Sidney Hunt, Zigmunt, Samuel Milko, Peter Milko, Hutchinson. All gave bail for Dec. Criminal court.

Residents of the United States now own and operate a larger number of motor cars than the residents of any other country. On the basis of population of 110,000,000 there is in operation in the United States one automobile for each ten persons or one for every three family groups.

According to one estimate the vehicles now in operation represent an original investment or outlay on the part of their owners totaling more than $11,000,000,000.

Since 1916 more than 1,000,000 new motor cars have been put into operation every twelve months, according to official reports. The year 1916 brought an increase of 43 per cent. in the number of cars in operation; 1917, 41 per cent; 1918, 23 per cent; 1919, 23 per cent; 1920, 22 per cent; 1921, 13 per cent. More than 800,000 new cars have been put into operation thus far during 1922.

Have you ever noticed your neighbor, or the other fellow's neighbor and his wife, what fearful or wonderful matches they are. For instance John is a big, husky 200-pound guy while Araminta kicks the beam at 90 pounds of energy and tongue. Or six-foot Jack tramps meekly along beside four-foot Jill, whom he has promised to love and honor and has to obey, while on the other hand you may see 300 pounds of buxom beauty leading a little 112-pounder male proprietarily down the street. They tell us matches are made in heaven, but even so, you can't help but marvel at some of them. But then you never can tell what attracts Her to Him or vice-versa—beyond the pull and push of Mother Nature's determination to perpetuate the species.

Above that, the subtle law of spiritual gravitation works so mysteriously that we of the Western world have said, with simple piety, that matches are made in heaven.

We have helplessly refused to hold ourselves responsible for marriages that fail.

In Buddha-land they are even more fatalistic, for they are supposed poetically to believe that we are born twin souls, and each in youth longs and looks for his mate.

When they meet, there is mutual recognition and the bliss of reunion in marriage.

Peppino—or John or Mary or Sally—if you are still unmarried, do continue to long and to look, until your mind and soul justify your eyes and your heart, as You Two rush together through the overhanging years to become a glorious One.

STRAITOR—KYLER

Merchandise shippers of Pennsylvania in their report to the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1922, present figures showing that the retail trade for that period was more than $2,000,000, greater than for the preceding year. In the period covered there was general business and industrial depression, and, during a portion of it, rail, coal mine and other strikes. In view of these conditions, the increase in retail trade is certainly remarkable.

But Pennsylvania is no exception to the rule. Similar reports from New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, and several of the Middle States, indicate increase in retail trade of even greater proportions. The increase in New York State was 20 per cent, that in New Jersey 23 per cent, while in Illinois it was 27 per cent. Such increases would seem to indicate that the people had money to spend, and spent it in spite of unemployment and other adverse circumstances.

Prosperity is returning. Retail trade is a good index of business conditions.

MRS. JAMES T. SHEARER RED CROSS CONFERENCE ON FRIDAY

After a lingering illness, Sarah Ann Shearer, aged 59 years, beloved wife of James T. Shearer, passed into the great beyond at her home on Daisy street, October 14, 1922, at 6 a. m.

Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn their loss three sons and one daughter: Howard E., of Ravenna, Ohio; James Harvey, George C., of Clearfield, and Honor P., of Philadelphia. Also two brothers and four sisters: Michael Means, of Clearville, Pa.; Harvey Means, of Altoona, Pa.; Mrs. D. W. Diehl, of Clearfield; Mrs. Eliza Pennell, of Everett, Pa.; Mrs. S. M. Cobler, of Mechanicsburg, Pa.; and Mrs. D. S. Weimer, of Trevorton, Pa.

Funeral was held Tuesday from the family residence on Daisy street at 1:30 p. m. and from the Lutheran church at 2 p. m., Rev. E. Roy Hausser officiating. Interment was in the family plot in Hillcrest cemetery.

Those from distant points who attended the funeral of Mrs. Shearer were: Michael Means, of Clearville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Means, of Altoona, Pa.; Mrs. Eliza Pennell, of Everett, Pa.; Mrs. S. M. Cobler, of Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Mr. Cobler, of Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Mrs. D. S. Weimer, of Trevorton, Pa.; George Shearer and daughter, Mrs. Edna Trotter, of Salem, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shearer of Everett, Pa.; Mrs. Grant Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gross, son and daughter, of Thomas, W. Va.

The high esteem in which Mrs. Shearer was held was shown by the many beautiful floral tributes.

Osmium the Heaviest Metal

It appears that the heaviest metal is osmium, which has, bulk for bulk, very nearly twice the weight of lead. The specific gravity of gold is about nineteen and a quarter, while that of osmium is almost twenty-two and a half. Osmium is also the least fusible of metals, remaining unaffected by a degree of heat capable of causing platinum to run like water. It even resists the formidable temperature of the electric arc.

particular thing goes wrong.

"It means absence of duplication so that the taxpayer pays for what he gets only once.

"It means compactness of organization so that each unit may be fully equipped to do its own work while co-operation with every other unit is made simple and easy.

"It means grouping the subjects to be dealt with in accordance with the purpose to be served and not in accordance with the methods used in achieving that purpose.

"Many of those who have thought but little on this subject are inclined to believe, for example, that all engineering work of a government should be grouped together. The fact is that many departments with entirely different purposes must avail themselves of the services of the engineer. To deprive them of the right to use engineering methods would be to cripple them at once just as it would cripple them if all the type-writers were concentrated in one place.

"It would be almost as foolish to base the organization of a government department on engineering as it would be on typewriting. Each is a means of getting work done which any department that needs it must be free to use.

"The reorganization of our State government will be a long, difficult and complicated task, out of which Pennsylvania should secure a modern, up-to-date business machine, capable of producing the utmost return in service for every dollar the taxpayers of the State devote to its use."

After resting in Philadelphia over the weekend, Mr. Pinchot returned to Chester, Montgomery and Delaware counties yesterday and today. Senator Pepper appeared with him at Norristown on Monday and Senator Reed tonight in meetings held at Chester and Media. Tomorrow Mr. Pinchot returns to his home in Milford for a few days rest, but will participate Saturday night in a big Republican rally at Wilkes-Barre, where U. S. Senator William E. Borah is scheduled to speak.

In regard to the general political situation Mr. Pinchot says the thing now to do is to make sure the full registered and enrolled Republican vote is polled on November 7th.

"Too many people are taking my election for granted," he said. "I feel like warning them all not to let down but to keep up a divining finish and a full vote on election day."

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Is J. E. Fross, who spent the last part of last week with relatives and friends in Butler and Pittsburgh has returned to her home on North Locust street.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Collins went over to Tyrone last evening where he had been engaged to deliver his far-famed lecture entitled "The House That Jack Built." The receipts of this entertainment will be given to the support of the aged ladies home located in that town.

The branch store owned and operated by Harry Lucas on upper Ridge avenue, was entered by thieves at an early hour Tuesday morning and goods to the amount of over two hundred dollars carried away. Entrance was made to the building by forcing a back door. Constable Korb and Chief Chas. were notified and together made an examination of the room and ground surrounding, picking up several clues by which they expect to land the guilty parties. Cigars, tobacco cigarettes and canned goods were the principal articles taken.

Postmaster Tobias and Foster Williams, both of Clearfield, met with an automobile accident Monday evening on the State highway not far from the old Susquehanna House. The accident occurred about nine o'clock during a heavy rainfall, which made the highway pretty dark about that hour. None of the occupants of either car was injured, but the Williams car was disabled somewhat. Mr. Tobias took Mr. and Mrs. Williams back to Clearfield in his car.

Mrs. J. C. Gates, Mrs. Wm. A. Dale and Miss Carrie Dyer went over the summit to DuBois yesterday and were guests of friends. In the evening Mr. Dale and Mr. Gates not favoring the idea of being left at home by themselves over night, secured an auto and drove overland to that town and brought each his spouse home.

Mrs. D. W. Hamilton, who has been spending some time in town with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer, and at the Hamilton home, returned to Altoona yesterday, where she will remain during the winter months.

The Lutheran people desire that we state that the prayer meeting night of that denomination has been changed from Friday evening to Wednesday evening. All members of the church will please bear this in mind.

The Indians, or more respectfully speaking the order of Red Men, has added about $1,500 worth of handsome new furniture to their rooms.

Harry Rhodes, wife and two daughters and Mrs. Sarah Ammerman, motored over to Houtzdale last Sunday.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur dyes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and youthful at once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at very little cost. Every body uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy, and you look years younger.

and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Webb.

Trace B. Norris is confined at his State street residence by a slight illness, serious enough, however, to prevent him from attending to usual business matters.

H. B. Thompson, one of Curwensville's oldest and most respected citizens, is confined to a home by illness.

Ever since this town has read the report of Saturday's football game as published in Monday's Altoona Mirror, at the writer of the article down as a regular underdog. He is a few years old. The Daughers were a little overweight at Curwensville and could not wait hand-picked team just as snappy as the team he picked up a fat battle most of the way. The Curwensville team had to show real stuff (gosh) and they did the job to grab the victory and the home team found opposition all the way. So far as our boys out winning their opponents is not a correct statement at all, but rather the hot war on the other foot. Another brain storm statement from the Mirror account "Curwensville players are over school age the team being rated as an ex-high eleven, four of the players being past 21 years of age." There is not a single player on the Curwensville squad that is 21 years of age, several of them being only a few months past 15 years, and the average weight of the whole bunch is under 140 pounds. The Blair county reporter, however, does not descend to state "that the Daughers got good treatment from the officials, players and rooters." Next Saturday the home team will battle for supremacy with a team from Reynoldsville. The contest comes off on the home grounds.

It will be noticed in the published list of real estate transfers that Samuel Williams has disposed of a plot of ground in this borough to R. R. Robinson, receiving the sum of $3000 or the same.

A letter received from O. J. Baker, a former resident of this place, now of Collingwood, N. J., states that he is in pretty poor health and is unable to do any manual labor; whatever he is a carpenter by trade and during his residence in this vicinity built a good many houses.

The following obituary notice of the late Oscar S. Bilger was handed to us yesterday morning with a request by relatives and neighbors that it be published in the "Curwensville letter."

Relatives and friends of Oscar S. Bilger were shocked when his mother, Mrs. George Bilger, of Bloom township, received a telegram on October 6th, 1922, that he had passed away that morning at his home in Aberdeen, South Dakota, heart failure being the direct cause of his demise. After holding funeral services in Aberdeen his wife accompanied the remains to the home of his mother in Bloom township, the body arriving in Curwensville on the evening train Monday, October 9th, when funeral Director C. K. Doverspike took charge of the body and conveyed it to the home of his mother where it lay in state until the funeral was held from the Baptist church at Greenville, Rev. J. B. Hollister of Rockton, conducting the services and Mrs. Collins of Curwensville, M. F. church leading the song service.

Oscar Bilger was a son of George and Emma Bilger and was born in Bloom township on December 4th, 1887, and at the hour of his death, October 6th, 1922, was aged 34 years, 10 months and two days. Early in life he united with the Church of the Brethren at Greenville and during his life while at home was an active worker both in the Church services and Sunday school. He taught a number of terms of school, among which were the LaBorde and Grove schools in Bloom township, the Curry in Pike township and several in Cambria county. Some years ago he went west and located in the town of LaPorte, Indiana, where he became a store manager for the Woolworth Co. After a year spent in that town he was transferred to Granger, Ind. and after five years to Aberdeen, S. D. He was married in LaPorte to Bessie M. Barber of that place on December 14th, 1911, who with one daughter, Dorothy Louise, survive him. He also leaves to mourn his untimely end his mother, Mrs. George Bilger of Bloom township, one sister, Mrs. Alice Shaffer of Galesburg, Ill., brother, Frank of Washington, Pa., sister, Grace of Victor, Penn., two sons, Desmond, Albuquerque, N. M., and Walter, at home. All were present at the funeral but Desmond, Oscar Bilger was of a cheerful disposition and had a host of friends, who deeply sympathize with the family in their bereavement, and especially with the mother, who it will be remembered lost her husband he loved.

Miracle Balm

Abandoned by its mother when three hours old, this baby lay in a road near New Orleans at night while 200 automobiles passed over it without its suffering a scratch. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Book saw it in the glare of their headlights. They're going to adopt it.

killed in the clay mines some ten years ago. Oscar Bilger was an affiliating mason, he having received the 12 degree, was a member of the Presbyterian church in Aberdeen having united with that denomination with his wife. Intestment of his body was made in the Greenville cemetery near the church, which he attended when a boy.

LEGION MEN ON HERO LIST

David O'Leary and W. W. Colton of Pasadena Post Rescue Victims of Explosion.

There came a deafening roar, and out of the building gushed the strong odor of ammonia. David J. O'Leary, adjutant, and W. W. Colton of the Pasadena Post No. 13, American Legion, peered through the dark toward the post club rooms.

My God, O'Leary cried. The boy scouts are holding a meeting up there. And the caretakers must be in there too. The men ran into the building, fought their way through the deadly ammonia fumes, one in search of the caretakers, the other upstairs to the clubrooms, where the Pasadena boy scouts were holding their meeting. But the boy scouts, acting with the steadiness of nerve and calm discipline that is the result of their training, already were marching out of the building—and carrying four of them detailed for the work a crippled boy scout who had been overcome. They had even remembered to pull a pillow case over the stricken boy's head, and they carried him out to safety and revived him.

Colton and O'Leary, staggering groping their way, searched for and found Mrs. Maude Fishburn and Mrs. A. Hare, the caretakers who had been sleeping in their quarters in the building. They carried both women to safety. First aid treatment revived them. The two Legionnaires also were resuscitated.

The post's clubrooms are over an ice plant, and it was an ammonia tank in the plant which exploded. It was declared that if it had not been for the bravery of O'Leary and Colton the two women would have met death.

AUXILIARY WOMEN SET PACE

Under Leadership of Mrs. Rose Cravens, Missouri and Kansas Workers Conduct Benefit

"Let's go," the rallying cry of the American Legion went flying over Kansas recently when it was announced that the American Legion of Kansas and Missouri would take over the dedication of Kansas City's new $400,000 speedway, sharing in the receipts Mrs. Rose Cravens, president of the women's auxiliary, sounded the cry to all the members of the auxiliary in her state and began immediately organizing flying squadrons of ticket sellers in every city and town of Kansas.

Wildwood (N. J.) Legion Post Establishes Retreat for the Convalescent Ex-Servicemen

That hiatus of loneliness and pain and weakness that often is the lot of the veteran as he leaves the petting room of a government hospital and before he can go to his home, is being made one of pleasure and real rest by the Byron Pennington Crokey post of the American Legion at Wildwood, N. J. The post has established what is known as Blessed Haven, a retreat for the convalescent ex-servicemen. It is the only institution of its kind in the state.

So successful has Blessed Haven been, and so thoroughly has it become known that its name implies that other Legion posts are contemplating the establishment of like retreats. It is planned to have them in the more thickly populated sections in order to bring the boys as close to their homes as possible.

Fanning With Farrel

By HENRY I. FARRERI (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Oct. 18.—No team ever rose to the heights of perfection attained by the New York Giants in winning the world's series from the Yankees.

Constituted as they are today, the Giants perhaps are the greatest team ever assembled. They are at least as good as any team of former years and their class above all other major league teams today is far beyond dispute.

In the series they made the American League champions look almost like busters and it must not be misunderstood that the Yankees are a good ball club. They had to have some class to win the American League pennant, because that is no minor circuit.

Many of the tricks and traps conceived by McGraw, Jennings, Robinson and Gleason when they were making famous the name of the old Baltimore Orioles were sprung to perfection on the Yankees.

Twice victories were turned in by the trick of having an infielder intercept a throw from the outfield and cut down a run at the plate.

In the fourth game Bancroft ran into short centerfield and took a throw, whipping the ball to the plate returning Schrang who tried for the plate.

In the last game Frisch ran into right field, took Young's short throw and tossed to the plate, getting Scott who made the attempt to score when he thought the play was to be made at second base.

The outfield work of the Giants was spectacular and critics agreed that it surpassed the marks set by Hooper, Speaker and Lewis, who wrote on the books is the greatest of all world's series outfields when they were starting with the Boston Red Sox.

They did not make as many spectacular catches simply because they didn't get the chances. The throwing of Mousell Cunningham and Young their hitting and more especially their brain work was beautiful to watch.

Before the series it was predicted that on account of the supposed weakness of the Giant pitching staff, McGraw's only chance to win the championship rested in hitting and his running and it was the strength of the National League champions in those two lines that was mainly responsible for the victory.

The base running of the Giants and then batting in the pinch certainly would have won even if the pitchers had been less effective.

Reason for the surprise shown by the Giant pitchers and the Yanks can be explained by the pitcher in the words of a former major league manager and a close friend of McGraw's.

"Any pitcher of more than ordinary ability who has control and who follows the instructions of McGraw can win ball games."

While no particular wreath of laurels was placed on his brow, Frisch Mousell certainly was one of the big heroes of the series. He proved himself to be one of the most dangerous hitters in baseball when a hit was needed.

Many fine batting averages were made by hits with none on or with two down when the pitcher is careless, but a player who bats only .200 and gets his hits when there are men on the bases is a better hitter.

Full-powered ATLANTIC follows through!

A gasoline that is too volatile—which contains too many of the lighter hydrocarbons of the crude petroleum—is not only subject to wasteful evaporation, but it lacks stamina. The exploding charge is expended before the piston has fairly started on its power stroke.

Atlantic follows through. It has stability as well as volatility; fullness as well as quickness; power as well as action. It is a balanced gasoline—a scientific combination having the elements needed for easy vaporization, plus a gradually rising series of heavier calorific fractions to give it high expansive force.

This balance or complete "chain of boiling points" enables every charge of Atlantic to ignite surely, burn completely and put full-powered punch into every drive of the piston.

Atlantic is made for present-day motors and for maximum efficiency under all of the conditions of speed, load and temperature under which a motor gasoline must operate.

Coal Mining In Hard Coal Field Is Held Up By Big Labor Shortage

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Oct. 18, (U. P.)—During the first thirty days of operations in the anthracite mines, after a five months suspension, production of hard coal was curtailed by a shortage of labor, drought that threatened the existence of washes and a lack of girdlers.

Operators, however, are striving to overcome the big handicaps, so that production of hard coal may reach normal proportions and the tonnage will amount to the 2,000,000 mark weekly.

Many mines in the hard coal region, comprising about 480 square miles, have been forced to close down two and three days a week because there has been no cars to haul the "black diamonds."

Box cars have been used extensively for hauling coal westward, and railroad, by placing embargoes on "slow freight," are endeavoring to place sufficient cars in mine sidings to overcome the car shortage.

During the suspension many laborers left the anthracite region to seek employment in other sections of the country. When the mines resumed operations, skilled licensed miners began cutting coal, but no laborers were available for loading the product into railroad cars.

Imports from big cities of the United States are now pouring into the mining centers at the rate of 200 a day. They are speedily instructed in the art of working shovels and operating automatic loaders.

Every coal washery in the entire hard coal region was forced to cur-tally operations because of a lengthy drought. Rains, however, have brought streams up and once more washeries are operating full time.

Indications are that normal production of coal will be reached by October 20.

Coal Operators Meet To Discuss Problems

A joint meeting was held yesterday at Altoona by the directors of the Central Coal association and the Bituminous Coal Operators' association at the offices of the secretary of the former association in the Lincoln Trust building, at which matters pertaining to the coal industry in the Central Pennsylvania field are being considered.

The most important business being before the officials is that of electing two representatives to the joint conference to be held in the Great Northern hotel in Chicago on Nov. 14, when methods will be formulated for the joint conference of miners and operators, to be held later to bring about an agreement on a wage scale for the ensuing year.

Other business taken up includes a consideration of the relations with and the orders of Fuel Director Suens and his field representative, Lieutenant Frank B. Conger, Jr., whose offices are located in the federal building.

The operators' representatives are also considering the question of the car shortage in the Pennsylv. Central region and on other railroads operating in this district and it is probable that as an outcome of deliberations, the interstate commerce commission will be requested to place a representative in this field.

Pays For Pears Stolen Eighteen Years Ago

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 18. (U. P.)—A woman now a resident of Akron, Ohio, stole two pears from Mrs. Martin Coyle, resident of a suburb near here 18 years ago. Her conscience hurt her all that time until today she sent two dimes to pay for the fruit.

The young woman who was then a school girl here stole the pears on a dare according to the letter. She recently joined the Coyle family, and as the pears were the only things she had ever stolen she asked forgiveness.

Although Mrs. Coyle did not know of the incident she is dispatching a letter of forgiveness at once.

NO ARRESTS HAVE BEEN MADE AS YET IN JERSEY'S BAFFLING MURDER CASE; PREACHER-SINGER'S LETTERS GIVEN OUT

Letters That Passed Between Rev. Hall And Mrs. Mills Are Sold To Press.

MRS. HALL GRILLED

New York, Oct. 17.—The arrests predicted for today in the Hall-Mills murder mystery at New Brunswick, N. J., were not made. The authorities called Mrs. Frances N. Hall, widow of the dead clergyman; her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and Charlotte Mills, daughter of the murdered choir singer, to the County Court House, and questioned them for hours, but at the end of the long inquisition they were unable to announce any progress in solving the mystery.

Mrs. Hall was confronted with a Hungarian woman who had told the authorities she saw a woman—then strange to her, but later recognized by her as Mrs. Hall from newspaper portraits—walking around the Phillips farm on the afternoon of Thursday, September 14, and apparently surveying the ground where the bodies were found on the following Saturday morning.

Result Unknown
It could not be learned tonight whether this woman had identified Mrs. Hall when she confronted her in the prosecutor's office today. The authorities refused to discuss this. The inference was that the woman had failed to identify Mrs. Hall. Otherwise an arrest probably would have been made at once.

Some time during the night state police officers were expected to take certain of the principals in the case to the scene of the crime and there reconstruct it, but they mysteriously disappeared about 9:30 and have not been located since.

"We have today examined Mrs. Hall and her brothers William and Henry. These examinations were prompted by some new information received which cannot be disclosed. We do not intend the arrest of any person today and any other statement is unauthorized."

Mills Discusses Letters
James Mills did not know tonight just what to make of his daughter Charlotte's selling the letters of his wife and her pastor to the press. "I don't suppose it was right," he said. "If Charlotte gets any money for them, I'll never let her keep a cent of it. I'll take it all from her and use it for the funeral expenses. Yes, I would use her letters to pay for burying her."

Mills insisted he had believed in the purity of his wife's relations with Dr. Hall until he learned what the letters contained. "They shook me up just a bit," he said, adding that he was no longer convinced his wife's relations with the minister were platonic and spiritual.

He was told that despite the letters Mrs. Hall still believed in the integrity of her husband. "She had better get a new pair of glasses," he said.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 17.—Pitting references to another woman who had to content herself with the dregs of a man's love were found in the packet and the scattered letters which were near and around the doctor's body in the Hall-Mills double murder mystery and made public by the public prosecutor here today.

They were replete with such phrases as "I am tired today and want to lie down with you and rest for hours," "That you and I hunger for the same things is what makes our love a perfect love," "She is easily content with the dregs while I give all the best to you."

Another letter reads:—"I don't know why I feel as I do today but knowing what I know I know that this was to be. Oh I know, O I know that you are my own true heart and that I have your purest love and that God looks down upon it as the one perfect love." "I know that you are always near me and that, feeling as we do, that we are never alone."

Restraining Order Not Made Permanent

New York, Oct. 17.—Federal Judge Learned Hand today reserved decision on application by American and foreign owned steamship lines to make permanent the restraining order putting into effect the Daugherty ruling on liquor even under seal when touching at American ports.

Meanwhile Judge Hand extended the stay he granted last week until he should reach a decision. This decision, he indicated, probably would be rendered before October 22, the latest date on which the ruling has been ordered into effect. Extension of the stay affected both American and foreign lines.

FRIEND APPLIES QUAKER MEDIATION TO END CHINA'S WAR

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 18. (U. P.)—The prominent part played by J. E. Pratt, a Philadelphia missionary, of the Society of Friends, in bringing to an end the civil war in China and saving Manchuria from desolation, was disclosed today in letters received here.

After the defeat of Chang-Tso-Lin by Mu-Pei-Fu and Chang's retirement toward Manchuria, the two armies faced each other with every prospect of a long and bloody war with the consequent desolation of Manchuria.

General Chang's son, going to Mukden, asked Pratt to interfere and end the war, as no Chinese would even attempt to open negotiations. Accordingly Pratt and Dr. W. A. Young, a Scottish medical missionary, went to the front to attempt to arrange an armistice.

After three trips through a dangerous country unaccompanied, as neither side would allow the other to furnish guards, parley was arranged on a British war vessel and the war was over.

The press of China hailed Pratt and Young as saviors of North China and commended their "courage, perseverance and wisdom."

THREE ARE KILLED IN BIG TRAIN WRECK NEAR SAVANNAH, GA.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 18.—Three persons were killed at Springfield, 28 miles from here today in a wreck on the Savannah and Atlanta railroad. A washed out trestle was reported to be the cause of the wreck.

Negro Gambler Is Confessed Murderer

Pittsburg, Oct. 18.—George Owens, alias "Stack of Dollars," negro gambler and alleged gunman, confessed to the shooting of Willie Powell, aged 25, here today. Powell died in the St. Francis hospital where he had been removed directly after the shooting.

Owens was arrested within a comparatively few hours at Youngstown, Ohio, and the shooting was said to have grown out of the receipt of a letter by Owens that Powers had been "running around" with a woman friend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pealer of Walnut street, are visiting in Scranton, where they were called by the death of Mrs. Pealer's father.

COAL COMMISSION MEETS TO ORGANIZE; HAMMOND FOR HEAD

Washington, Oct. 18.—President Harding's coal commission, appointed to ferret out the facts with regard to the coal situation, began work today. They met this morning in the office of George Otis, head of the United States Geological Survey, to organize and arrange a program. It is thought that John Hayes Hammond will be chosen to head the commission. Prior to the organization meeting the commission called on President Harding at the White House.

INDIANA WOMAN IS HELD FOR INQUIRY INTO TWINS' KILLING

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 18.—The phantom twins which Mrs. Hazel McNally, the blond 25-year-old wife of Frank McNally, 55, is accused of murdering may or may not have been dolls but Mrs. McNally is being held for the grand jury by Prosecuting Attorney Joseph Todd, stating that he had a very strong case against her.

Attorneys for Mrs. McNally stated that they would prove that it was impossible for Mrs. McNally to be a mother following a surgical operation. They are going to prove that the "phantom twins" were dolls and that the whole affair is the result of a desire on the part of Mrs. McNally to satisfy the longing of Mr. McNally to be called a father.

CHICAGO BANDITS GET AWAY WITH BIG HAUL OF JEWELRY

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Bandits last night robbed Max Mosier, a jewelry salesman, of $300,000 worth of unset diamonds. Mosier left the Congress hotel in company with a friend who volunteered to pilot him to the railroad station. They had just passed the portals of the hotel when a black automobile swept up alongside of them and one of the occupants of the bandit car grabbed the loot and was gone in a twinkling.

This robbery of Mosier brings the total of robberies in this city up to nearly $2,000,000 within the past few weeks.

Prominent Oil Man Is Dead At Titusville Home

Titusville, Oct. 18.—G. H. Westgate, Independent Oil refiner and principal owner of the Westgate Oil Refineries died here today following a long illness. Westgate was well known in the oil industry and was the founder of the American Oil Refining Company, the United Pipe Line Co., and the Pure Oil Co.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CLEARFIELD CHAPTER OF AMERICAN RED CROSS

The Annual meeting of the Clearfield Chapter of the American Red Cross is called for Wednesday, Oct. 25, 1922, to meet in the High School Auditorium at 4 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing an Executive Committee, considering reports and transacting such other business as the Chapter may be competent to transact.

All members of the Chapter are urgently requested to attend. A large attendance is requested.

LEGION WILL MEET AT SAN FRANCISCO FOR SESSION OF '23

New Orleans, Oct. 18.—The American Legion convention here today voted unanimously for the appointment of committees for the fight to put through the adjusted compensation without further delay.

It was also voted to unanimously accept the report of the resolutions and legislative committees on their work. There was no denunciation of either President Harding or the present administration in the reports. The New York state delegation seconded the motion.

New Orleans, Oct. 18.—Committee were prepared to present resolutions at the morning session of the American Legion convention which is in session here, to carry forward the fight for the bonus. Resolutions were also presented demanding that the personnel of the Navy be kept up to its present standard.

A resolution was also presented advocating that the universal service bill be pushed thru and that the President have the authority to act in time of need without further legislation being enacted by Congress.

The resolution denouncing the failure of the Bonus Bill did not carry any reflections on President Harding and the present Congress. An effort by a small minority was made to have this included in the resolution but was blocked by friends of the administration on the floor.

New Orleans, Oct. 17.—The American Legion in annual convention here heard President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, renew the faith of union labor that its support was always behind the government and upholding hands of those who fought for maintenance of its principles.

It received the felicitations of wounded veterans of European nations who came here last week to attend the convention of the Inter-Allied Veterans' Federation upon the work it was doing in behalf of disabled veterans.

It was pointed to by representatives of the veterans of earlier wars as heir to the custodianship of the principles they fought to uphold. The heads of the Spanish War Veterans, the G. A. R. and the United Confederate Veterans brought their greetings and goodspeed.

With an unexpectedness that left many delegates to the convention hardly realizing what had happened the report of the committee on time and place for the next convention brought in its report awarding the convention to San Francisco. New Jersey, which had sought the convention for Atlantic City led off in a movement that made the selection unanimous.

New Orleans, Oct. 17.—With the declaration of Hanford MacNider, a national commander, that the American Legion regarded the interests of the disabled service men as its first responsibility still ringing in their ears, World War veterans began the second day's session of their convention, here with indications that the rehabilitation question again would be the chief topic under discussion.

In this connection the legionaires were considering the bulletin issued to all post commanders, by Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant, advising them that millions of dollars collected during the war for benefit of soldiers and sailors, rightfully belonged to the American Legion.

After citing court cases and decisions, asserting the legion was the one organization in its class legally to disburse the funds, the national adjutant advised the commanders to take proper steps to secure all war chests collections.

The reply of Col. C. R. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans Bureau, to the rehabilitation commission attack on the government record of performance in dealing with veterans was also receiving attention of the former soldiers.

In his statement he declared that the Veterans Bureau was not criticized for any mistakes made under the first Langley act, inasmuch as it had nothing to do with the selection of sites.

ALLIANCE BETWEEN ALLIES AND RUSSIA LATE DEVELOPMENT

Paris, Oct. 18.—An alliance with the allies and Soviet Russia was looked forward to here today following a statement of Premier Poincare that negotiations had been opened with the Lenin government.

The statement followed the return of Jules Herriot, mayor of Lyons, and a radical socialist in the Chamber of Deputies, from Russia where he had been negotiating with the Russian Soviet.

MRS. ROSIER FACES JURY FOR MURDER OF HUSBAND AND CLERK

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Catherine Rosier went on trial for murder before Judge Barrett in quarter sessions court here this morning charged with the murder of her husband, Oscar Rosier, and his pretty stenographer, Mildred "Jerry" Reckitt, in his office last January. She will be tried first on the Miss Reckitt action and upon the outcome of this will depend the action on her husband's case. The defendant is very pale but perfectly calm and apparently unconcerned.

Some startling revelations were promised by the prosecuting attorney. An extra panel of 100 jurors was impaneled and it was expected that the selection of a jury would take all of today and most of tomorrow.

WAR MOTHERS ARE HOLDING SESSION AT ALTOONA TODAY

Altoona, Oct. 18.—The annual convention of the War Mothers of Pennsylvania convened here this morning with War Mother Mrs. Grown presiding. Addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Rhoades of Altoona and Mrs. Wambaugh, a War Mother.

Convention of representatives and routine matters pertaining to the convention were gone through with this morning which will continue into the afternoon session.

Election of officers will be held on Thursday.

WALKER F. GEORGE TO GET U. S. SEN. SEAT OF TOM L. WATSON

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 18.—Walker F. George of Vienna won a sweeping victory at the Democratic primaries in this State today for the unexpired term of the late Thos. E. Watson. The victory of George was a sweeping one as his nearest opponent, Gov. W. Hardwick, only carried twenty-five counties. The victory at the primaries is equivalent to election in Georgia.

Business Is Booming In Anthracite Region

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 18 (U. P.)—Business in the anthracite coal region is now booming after a six-month's slump.

Business men report that there is a much better feeling in financial circles since the mine workers received their first pay.

While the pay received by the miners was for one week's work the new amount of money in circulation was noticeable.

Payment on bills accumulated during the long strike were made and merchants believed within two weeks business conditions would be back to near normal.

JOHNSTOWN MAN'S CASE IS BEFORE PARDON BOARD

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 18.—Assistant District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner will appear before the State Board of Pardons which convenes here today in behalf of John Edwards the former Johnstown policeman who was convicted of wife murder.

Edwards states that he found that his wife had been unfaithful and that when he found it to be true kept the secret and made no defense at his trial, stating that he wished to keep the infidelity of his former wife from his daughter, who died recently. Edwards has served 15 years of a life term.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 18.—Three persons narrowly escaped death when an automobile driven by Mrs. E. H. Glasgow of Baw Knox collided with a train at the 32nd street station of the B. & O. here today.

Young Woman Is Killed When Freight Hits Auto

Uniontown, Oct. 18.—Pearl Bonnett, aged 18, was killed and her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Gunn, aged 40, slightly injured when the car which was driven by Miss Bonnett was struck by a fast freight on the B. & O. railroad at Ebans near here today.

Set Batch of Mushrooms, Hatches Blacksnakes

Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 18 (U. P.)—Blacksnake eggs and mushrooms look alike but they are different, according to John Witmer.

Witmer found six large "mushrooms" while walking through a field but laughed at a friend who told they were snake eggs.

John put the "mushrooms" into a jar to prove that he was right. Several days later three tiny blacksnakes broke out of the eggs. Within a week the other eggs hatched out six inch reptiles.

Drought Responsible For Freaks Of Nature

Mt. Carmel, Pa., Oct. 18 (U. P.)—Many freaks of nature were caused by the recent long drought. Trees are blossoming and vines are bearing a second crop of fruit.

A Lavelle farmer has harvested a second crop of grapes from his vines. The man harvested his ripe crop at the proper time, then another set of blossoms developed. The grapes grew to almost normal size and then ripened.

Gubernatorial Candidates Meet and Discuss Issues At Philadelphia Luncheon

PROMISES CLEANUP

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—Gifford Pinchot, Republican nominee for governor, met a crisis in his campaign today with a courage and spirit that won the admiration of hundreds of members of the Pennsylvania League of Voters who attended a luncheon at which the Republican gubernatorial candidate and his Democratic opponent, John A. McSparran, were the principal speakers.

The Republican standard bearer heard with a smile a bitter, personal denunciation of his candidacy, done in the style that McSparran has made famous throughout the State, and, when it came his turn to speak, refused to be drawn into a debate composed principally of vilification, but made his usual careful, studied discussion of the subject assigned, that of the need of reorganization for the State government.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—Just what Gifford Pinchot means by reorganization of the government of Pennsylvania in the interests of more efficient and economic administration of the affairs of the Commonwealth was set forth today by the Republican gubernatorial nominee in his address at a luncheon in the Bellevue Stratford held under the auspices of the Pennsylvania League of Women Voters. Prominent among the guests who heard Mr. Pinchot's clearcut call for "cleaning up" at Harrisburg was his Democratic opponent, John A. McSparran.

Declaring the time has arrived when a reorganization of the State's ponderous $50,000,000 corporation is an absolute necessity, Mr. Pinchot told an audience that packed the ball room of the Bellevue Stratford to capacity, and cheered him heartily, that the job must be done in order that Pennsylvania may secure "a modern, up-to-date, business machine, capable of producing the utmost return in service for every dollar the taxpayers to the State devote to its use."

Sketching first in bold relief his general declaration of policies, viz., to bring about a financial reconstruction so that Pennsylvania may be put on a sound financial basis and be able to pay its debts when they are due, and Government reorganization so as to give an effective modern State government, Mr. Pinchot grew philosophical and, out of his own intimate experience in forestry, developed an apt metaphor to illustrate his thoughts on State governmental reorganization.

"Governments grow," he said, "like trees, with advancing age, they become larger, heavier and cover more ground. Like trees, with advancing age, they are likely to develop straggling and irregular branches and, unless pruned here and there under the bark."

"Every kind of tree grows in accordance with a definite, systematic plan. Governments as a rule do not. Governments grow not in accordance with a prearranged scheme but as the needs and methods of thought and even the whims of successive legislatures and executives may dictate."

"From time to time, therefore, reorganization becomes a necessity. Such a time has come in Pennsylvania."

"You cannot reorganize a state government merely by cutting out the dead wood and removing superfluous branches. The whole structure must be recast along lines which will result in more service for the taxpayer's dollar."

"That means clearcut responsibility so that no doubt can exist as to who is directly responsible if any (Continued on Page 4).

STATE COLLEGE GRADS TO HAVE HOMECOMING

State College, Pa., Oct. 18.—Extensive plans have been made for the third annual Alumni Homecoming Day which will be celebrated at the Pennsylvania State College over the coming week-end. Hundreds of graduates and former students came each Fall to this very popular celebration, and this year, with interest high in the college emergency building fund campaign, the attendance is expected to be large.

A feature on Saturday, the official homecoming day, will be an accounting of progress on the $2,000,000 drive which opened recently. Pledges are now held by college officials amounting to over $500,000, and this total will be increased when reports are heard from county chairmen at an alumni meeting on Saturday morning. There will be no solicitation of alumni for the fund on this occasion.

President John M. Thomas, will tell of the campaign and the college aims leading to its recognition at a big alumni smoker to be held Saturday night. Alumni in two score Pennsylvania counties are actively engaged in campaign work and thousands of dollars in pledges and cash are coming in every day.

DOG LICENSES INCREASED IN CLEARFIELD COUNTY

Harrisburg, Oct. 17.—The number of dogs being licensed in Clearfield county is on the increase, a report of the Department of Agriculture of Pennsylvania issued today shows. The report states that 30,000 more dogs were licensed in the nine months of this year than during the whole of 1921, Clearfield county showing an increase with every county in the State.

The report gives 5,053 as the number of individual licenses issued; 4 kennel licenses; the number of dogs killed where owners have failed to take out licenses at 60; the number of prosecutions reported 27; damage claims filed 3, for a total amount claimed of $29.30. Of the amounts claimed, $13.60 were settled by owners of the dogs, the report shows.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The number of men and women earning enough to bring them within the requirements of the Federal Income Tax law has increased 100 per cent. since 1918, according to an official study of tax returns just completed by the Treasury Department.

The increase indicates that conditions are continuously becoming more prosperous for the average resident of the United States, some officials believe.

The increase is most marked, the official study shows, in the number of taxpayers reporting net incomes between $2,000 and $3,000 a year. This class of taxpayers is growing faster than any other group.

The total number of persons of all income groups paying the income tax was reported as follows:

Year.	Total Number.	Preceding Year.
1918	3,472,890	680%
1919	4,425,114	27%
1920	5,332,700	20%
1921	7,259,911	36%

The public school records of Clearfield show that our schools hold at least 96 per cent. of their pupils at the end of Sixth grade and carry them along into Seventh grade and from thence into Junior High. Sixth grade is the stopping place of many of our State school records show, and Clearfield's record is one to be proud of, demonstrating as it does that our schools appeal to both pupil and parent.

More than 11,300,000 passenger automobiles, trucks and other motor vehicles of types necessitating legal registry are now in operation in the United States, according to estimates for October based on official reports to the Government.

At least 1,200,000 new cars will be the total of deliveries during 1922, it is indicated.

In 1921, the number of vehicles officially registered was 10,465,995, according to reports to the Roads Bureau of the Department of Agriculture. In 1915, only 2,445,661 cars were in use, showing that the automobile industry succeeded in popularizing its product to the extent of more than 8,000,000 cars in six years.

Some Coal Operators Must Keep Scrapping

You simply can't keep some coal operators from scrapping and as a result thereof there is "blood on the moon" up in the Brishin country where the Lobb Coal Company and the Guernsey Coal Company are waging a fierce war over the possession of a body of fine Woodward township coal.

The coal is being operated by Walter Lobb, while Asa Spencer, of Philipsburg, the moving spirit in the Guernsey Co., says he is a "pouch" so to speak and has no right or title to the property which Spencer seems to think he ought to have, but which Lobb and about all the facts in the case says he has not.

Possession being nine points of the law and Lobb having that it was up to Spencer to do something and jumping from the records being daily written into "Spire F. G. Chappening's" docket. Spencer and his minions are doing just that.

It is alleged in daily information being made by Lobb that Spencer and his "wrecking crew" visit the disputed mine daily and raise merry L with the workings. They are alleged to have caved in his headings, tore up his tracks, choked up the air shaft and muzzed things up generally, all in direct opposition to and in violation of the criminal statutes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The pernicious pursuers of the peace of mind of Coal Operator Lobb, as detailed in the several informations charging malicious mischief and violation of the mining law are Coal Operator Asa Spencer, Richard Roundley, Sidney Hunt, Zigmunt, Samuel Milko, Peter Milko, Hutchinson. All gave bail for Dec. Criminal court.

Residents of the United States now own and operate a larger number of motor cars than the residents of any other country. On the basis of population of 110,000,000 there is in operation in the United States one automobile for each ten persons or one for every three family groups.

According to one estimate the vehicles now in operation represent an original investment or outlay on the part of their owners totaling more than $11,000,000,000.

Since 1916 more than 1,000,000 new motor cars have been put into operation every twelve months, according to official reports. The year 1916 brought an increase of 43 per cent. in the number of cars in operation; 1917, 41 per cent; 1918, 23 per cent; 1919, 23 per cent; 1920, 22 per cent; 1921, 13 per cent. More than 800,000 new cars have been put into operation thus far during 1922.

Have you ever noticed your neighbor, or the other fellow's neighbor and his wife, what fearful or wonderful matches they are. For instance John is a big, husky 200-pound guy while Araminta kicks the beam at 90 pounds of energy and tongue. Or six-foot Jack tramps meekly along beside four-foot Jill, whom he has promised to love and honor and has to obey, while on the other hand you may see 300 pounds of buxom beauty leading a little 112-pounder male proprietarily down the street. They tell us matches are made in heaven, but even so, you can't help but marvel at some of them. But then you never can tell what attracts Her to Him or vice-versa—beyond the pull and push of Mother Nature's determination to perpetuate the species.

Above that, the subtle law of spiritual gravitation works so mysteriously that we of the Western world have said, with simple piety, that matches are made in heaven.

We have helplessly refused to hold ourselves responsible for marriages that fail.

In Buddha-land they are even more fatalistic, for they are supposed poetically to believe that we are born twin souls, and each in youth longs and looks for his mate.

When they meet, there is mutual recognition and the bliss of reunion in marriage.

Peppino—or John or Mary or Sally—if you are still unmarried, do continue to long and to look, until your mind and soul justify your eyes and your heart, as You Two rush together through the everlasting years to become a glorious One.

STRAITOR—KYLER

At the Presbyterian Manse on Wednesday morning, Mr. George A. Straitor, of West Decatur, and Miss Elva Kyler, of Bigler were united in marriage by Dr. E. C. Reeve, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Straitor holds a responsible position as machinist in the General Refractories Co. at West Decatur and the bride is the accomplished daughter of A. E. Kyler and a member of one of Bigler's well known and respected families. Following an extended trip in New York State, Mr. and Mrs. Straitor will make their home in West Decatur. Our best wishes.

Merchandise shippers of Pennsylvania in their report to the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1922, present figures showing that the retail trade for that period was more than $2,000,000, greater than for the preceding year. In the period covered there was general business and industrial depression, and, during a portion of it, rail, coal mine and other strikes. In view of these conditions, the increase in retail trade is certainly remarkable.

But Pennsylvania is no exception to the rule. Similar reports from New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, and several of the Middle States, indicate increase in retail trade of even greater proportions. The increase in New York State was 20 per cent, that in New Jersey 23 per cent, while in Illinois it was 27 per cent. Such increases would seem to indicate that the people had money to spend, and spent it in spite of unemployment and other adverse circumstances.

Prosperity is returning. Retail trade is a good index of business conditions.

MRS. JAMES T. SHEARER RED CROSS CONFERENCE ON FRIDAY

After a lingering illness, Sarah Ann Shearer, aged 59 years, beloved wife of James T. Shearer, passed into the great beyond at her home on Daisy street, October 14, 1922, at 6 a. m.

Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn their loss three sons and one daughter: Howard E., of Ravenna, Ohio; James Harvey, George C., of Clearfield, and Honor P., of Philadelphia. Also two brothers and four sisters: Michael Means, of Clearville, Pa.; Harvey Means, of Altoona, Pa.; Mrs. D. W. Diehl, of Clearfield; Mrs. Eliza Pennell, of Everett, Pa.; Mrs. S. M. Cobler, of Mechanicsburg, Pa.; and Mrs. D. S. Weimer, of Trevorton, Pa.

Funeral was held Tuesday from the family residence on Daisy street at 1:30 p. m. and from the Lutheran church at 2 p. m. Rev. E. Roy Hausser officiating. Interment was in the family plot in Hillcrest cemetery.

Those from distant points who attended the funeral of Mrs. Shearer were: Michael Means, of Clearville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Means, of Altoona, Pa.; Mrs. Eliza Pennell, of Everett, Pa.; Mrs. S. M. Cobler, of Mechanicsburg, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Weimer, of Trevorton, Pa.; George Shearer and daughter, Mrs. Edna Trotter, of Salem, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shearer of Everett, Pa.; Mrs. Grant Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gross, son and daughter, of Thomas, W. Va.

The high esteem in which Mrs. Shearer was held was shown by the many beautiful floral tributes.

Osmium the Heaviest Metal

It appears that the heaviest metal is osmium, which has, bulk for bulk, very nearly twice the weight of lead. The specific gravity of gold is about nineteen and a quarter, while that of osmium is almost twenty-two and a half. Osmium is also the least fusible of metals, remaining unaffected by a degree of heat capable of causing platinum to run like water. It even resists the formidable temperature of the electric arc.

particular thing goes wrong.

"It means absence of duplication so that the taxpayer pays for what he gets only once.

"It means compactness of organization so that each unit may be fully equipped to do its own work while co-operation with every other unit is made simple and easy.

"It means grouping the subjects to be dealt with in accordance with the purpose to be served and not in accordance with the methods used in achieving that purpose.

"Many of those who have thought but little on this subject are inclined to believe, for example, that all engineering work of a government should be grouped together. The fact is that many departments with entirely different purposes must avail themselves of the services of the engineer. To deprive them of the right to use engineering methods would be to cripple them at once just as it would cripple them if all the type-writers were concentrated in one place.

"It would be almost as foolish to base the organization of a government department on engineering as it would be on typewriting. Each is a means of getting work done which any department that needs it must be free to use.

"The reorganization of our State government will be a long, difficult and complicated task, out of which Pennsylvania should secure a modern, up-to-date business machine, capable of producing the utmost return in service for every dollar the taxpayers of the State devote to its use."

After resting in Philadelphia over the weekend, Mr. Pinchot returned to Chester, Montgomery and Delaware counties yesterday and today. Senator Pepper appeared with him at Norristown on Monday and Senator Reed tonight in meetings held at Chester and Media. Tomorrow Mr. Pinchot returns to his home in Milford for a few days rest, but will participate Saturday night in a big Republican rally at Wilkes-Barre, where U. S. Senator William E. Borah is scheduled to speak.

In regard to the general political situation Mr. Pinchot says the thing now to do is to make sure the full registered and enrolled Republican vote is polled on November 7th.

"Too many people are taking my election for granted," he said. "I feel like warning them all not to let down but to keep up a divining finish and a full vote on election day."

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Is J. E. Fross, who spent the last part of last week with relatives and friends in Butler and Pittsburgh has returned to her home on North Locust street.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Collins went over to Tyrone last evening where he had been engaged to deliver his far-famed lecture entitled "The House That Jack Built." The receipts of this entertainment will be given to the support of the Aged Ladies Home located in that town.

The branch store owned and operated by Harry Lucas on upper Ridge avenue, was entered by thieves at an early hour Tuesday morning and goods to the amount of over two hundred dollars carried away. Entrance was made to the building by forcing a back door. Constable Korb and Chief Chas. were notified and together made an examination of the room and ground surrounding, picking up several clues by which they expect to land the guilty parties. Cigars, tobacco, cigarettes and canned goods were the principal articles taken.

PoMASTER Tobias and Foster Williams, both of Clearfield, met with an automobile accident Monday evening on the State highway not far from the old Susquehanna House. The accident occurred about nine o'clock during a heavy rainfall, which made the highway pretty dark about that hour. None of the occupants of either car was injured, but the Williams car was disabled somewhat. Mr. Tobias took Mr. and Mrs. Williams back to Clearfield in his car.

Mrs. J. C. Gates, Mrs. Wm. A. Dale and Miss Carrie Dyer went over the summit to DuBois yesterday and were guests of friends. In the evening Mr. Dale and Mr. Gates not fancying the idea of being left at home by themselves over night, secured an auto and drove overland to that town and brought each his spouse home.

Mrs. D. W. Hamilton, who has been spending some time in town with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer, and at the Hamilton home, returned to Altoona yesterday, where she will remain during the winter months.

The Lutheran people desire that we state that the prayer meeting night of that denomination has been changed from Friday evening to Wednesday evening. All members of the church will please bear this in mind.

The Indians, or more respectfully speaking the order of Red Men, has added about $1,500 worth of handsome new furniture to their rooms.

Harry Rhodes, wife and two daughters and Mrs. Sarah Ammerman, motored over to Houtzdale last Sunday.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur dyes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and youthful at once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at very little cost. Every body uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy, and you look years younger.

and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Webb.

Trace B. Norris is confined to his State street residence by a slight illness, serious enough, however, to prevent him from attending to usual business matters.

H. B. Thompson, one of Curwensville's oldest and most respected citizens, is confined to his home by illness.

I've seen in this town who read the report of Saturday's football game as published in Monday's Altoona Mirror, at the writer of the article down as a regular misanthrope. He is a few years old. The Daughers were a little overweighed at Curwensville and could not wait hand-picked team just as snappy as the team he picked up a fat battle most of the way. The Curwensville team had to show real stuff (gosh) and they did that to grab the victory and the home team found opposition all the way. So far as our boys out-weighing their opponents is not a correct statement at all, but rather the hot war on the other foot. Another brain storm statement from the Mirror account "Curwensville players are over school age the team being rated as an ex-high eleven, four of the players being past 21 years of age." There is not a single player on the Curwensville squad that is 21 years of age, several of them being only a few months past 15 years, and the average weight of the whole bunch is under 140 pounds. The Blair county reporter, however, does not descend to state "that the Daughers got good treatment from the officials, players and rooters." Next Saturday the home team will battle for supremacy with a team from Reynoldsville. The contest comes off on the home grounds.

It will be noticed in the published list of real estate transfers that Samuel Williams has disposed of a plot of ground in this borough to R. R. Robinson, receiving the sum of $3000 or the same.

A letter received from O. J. Baker, a former resident of this place, now of Collingwood, N. J., states that he is in pretty poor health and is unable to do any manual labor; whatever he is a carpenter by trade and during his residence in this vicinity built a good many houses.

The following obituary notice of the late Oscar S. Bilger was handed to us yesterday morning with a request by relatives and neighbors that it be published in the "Curwensville letter."

Relatives and friends of Oscar S. Bilger were shocked when his mother, Mrs. George Bilger, of Bloom township, received a telegram on October 6th, 1922, that he had passed away that morning at his home in Aberdeen, South Dakota, heart failure being the direct cause of his demise. After holding funeral services in Aberdeen his wife accompanied the remains to the home of his mother in Bloom township, the body arriving in Curwensville on the evening train Monday, October 9th, when funeral Director C. K. Doverspike took charge of the body and conveyed it to the home of his mother where it lay in state until the funeral was held from the Baptist church at Greenville, Rev. J. B. Hollister of Rockton, conducting the services and Mrs. Collins of Curwensville, M. F. church leading the song service.

Oscar Bilger was a son of George and Emma Bilger and was born in Bloom township on December 4th, 1887, and at the hour of his death, October 6th, 1922, was aged 34 years, 10 months and two days. Early in life he united with the Church of the Brethren at Greenville and during his life while at home was an active worker both in the Church services and Sunday school. He taught a number of terms of school, among which were the LaBorde and Grove schools in Bloom township, the Curry in Pike township and several in Cambria county. Some years ago he went west and located in the town of LaPorte, Indiana, where he became a store manager for the Woolworth Co. After a year spent in that town he was transferred to Granger, Ind. and after five years to Aberdeen, S. D. He was married in LaPorte to Bessie M. Barber of that place on December 14th, 1911, who with one daughter, Dorothy Louise, survive him. He also leaves to mourn his untimely end his mother, Mrs. George Bilger of Bloom township, one sister, Mrs. Alice Shaffer of Galesburg, Ill., brother, Frank of Washington, Pa., sister, Grace of Victor, Penn., two sons, Desmond, Albuquerque, N. M., and Walter, at home. All were present at the funeral but Desmond, Oscar Bilger was of a cheerful disposition and had a host of friends, who deeply sympathize with the family in their bereavement, and especially with the mother, who it will be remembered lost her husband he being killed in the clay mines some ten years ago. Oscar Bilger was an affiliating mason, he having received the 12 degree, was a member of the Presbyterian church in Aberdeen having united with that denomination with his wife. Intestment of his body was made in the Greenville cemetery near the church, which he attended when a boy.

LEGION MEN ON HERO LIST

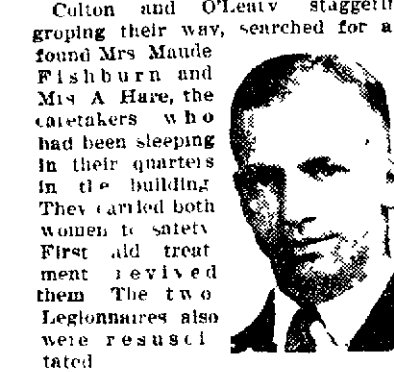

David O'Leary and W. W. Colton of Pasadena Post Rescue Victims of Explosion.

There came a deafening roar, and out of the building gushed the strong odor of ammonia. David J. O'Leary, adjutant, and W. W. Colton of the Pasadena Post No. 13, American Legion, peered through the dark toward the post club rooms.

My God, O'Leary cried. The boy scouts are holding a meeting up there. And the caretakers must be in there, too.

The men ran into the building, fought their way through the deadly ammonia fumes, one in search of the caretakers, the other upstairs to the clubrooms, where the Pasadena boy scouts were holding their meeting. But the boy scouts, acting with the steadiness of nerve and calm discipline that is the result of their training, already were marching out of the building—and carrying four of them detailed for the work a crippled boy scout who had been overcome. They had even remembered to pull a pillow case over the stricken boy's head, and they carried him out to safety and revived him.

Colton and O'Leary, staggering groping their way, searched for and found Mrs. Maude Fishburn and Mrs. A. Hare, the caretakers who had been sleeping in their quarters in the building. They carried both women to safety. First aid treatment revived them. The two Legionnaires also were resuscitated.

AUXILIARY WOMEN SET PACE

Under Leadership of Mrs. Rose Cravens, Missouri and Kansas Workers Conduct Benefit

"Let's go," the rallying cry of the American Legion went flying over Kansas recently when it was announced that the American Legion of Kansas and Missouri would take over the dedication of Kansas City's new $400,000 speedway, sharing in the receipts Mrs. Rose Cravens, president of the women's auxiliary, sounded the cry to all the members of the auxiliary in her state and began immediately organizing flying squadrons of ticket sellers in every city and town of Kansas.

"We're working for the disabled veterans and their dependents and the dependents of the dead heroes," Mrs. Cravens told the thirty workers, explaining that the two American Legion departments would realize $60,000 from the dedication.

The women responded with enthusiasm. Under Mrs. Cravens' leadership they conducted a campaign as strenuous as any held in war days. They gave of their time and energies to make the dedication a great success, and American Legion officials declared the women of Kansas and Missouri outshone the men in their activity.

Wildwood (N. J.) Legion Post Establishes Retreat for the Convalescent Ex-Servicemen

That hiatus of loneliness and pain and weakness that often is the lot of the veteran as he leaves the petting room of a government hospital and before he can go to his home, is being made one of pleasure and real rest by the Byron Pennington Crokey post of the American Legion at Wildwood, N. J. The post has established what is known as Blessed Haven, a retreat for the convalescent ex-servicemen. It is the only institution of its kind in the state.

So successful has Blessed Haven been, and so thoroughly has it become all that its name implies, that other Legion posts are contemplating the establishment of like retreats. It is planned to have them in the more thickly populated sections in order to bring the boys as close to their homes as possible.

By HENRY I. FARRERI (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Oct. 18.—No team ever rose to the heights of perfection attained by the New York Giants in winning the world's series from the Yankees.

Constituted as they are today, the Giants perhaps are the greatest team ever assembled. They are at least as good as any team of former years and their class above all other major league teams today is far beyond dispute.

In the series they made the American League champions look almost like busters and it must not be misunderstood that the Yankees are a good ball club. They had to have some class to win the American League pennant, because that is no minor circuit.

Many of the tricks and traps conceived by McGraw, Jennings, Robinson and Gleason when they were making famous the name of the old Baltimore Orioles were sprung to perfection on the Yankees.

Twice victories were turned in by the trick of having an infielder intercept a throw from the outfield and cut down a run at the plate.

In the fourth game Bancroft ran into short centerfield and took a throw, whipping the ball to the plate, returning Schrang who tried for the plate.

In the last game Frisch ran into right field, took Young's short throw and tossed to the plate, getting Scott who made the attempt to score when he thought the play was to be made at second base.

The outfield work of the Giants was spectacular and critics agreed that it surpassed the marks set by Hooper, Speaker and Lewis, who wrote on the books is the greatest of all world's series outfields when they were starting with the Boston Red Sox.

They did not make as many spectacular catches simply because they didn't get the chances. The throwing of Mousie Cunningham and Young their hitting, and more especially their brain work was beautiful to watch.

Before the series it was predicted that on account of the supposed weakness of the Giant pitching staff, McGraw's only chance to win the championship rested in hitting and his running and it was the strength of the National League champions in those two lines that was mainly responsible for the victory.

The base running of the Giants and then batting in the pinch certainly would have won even if the pitchers had been less effective.

Reason for the surprise shown by the Giant pitchers and the Yanks can be explained by the pitcher in the words of a former major league manager and a close friend of McGraw's.

"Any pitcher of more than ordinary ability who has control and who follows the instructions of McGraw can win ball games."

While no particular wreath of laurels was placed on his brow, Frisch Mousie certainly was one of the big heroes of the series. He proved himself to be one of the most dangerous hitters in baseball when a hit was needed.

Many fine batting averages were made by hits with none on or with two down when the pitcher is careless, but a player who bats only .200 and gets his hits when there are men on the bases is a better hitter.

AMERICAN WOMEN ARE CARELESS

Women are too apt to overestimate their strength and overtax it. When doing well they take unnecessary chances, which in the long run cause much pain and trouble. Wet feet, exposure to cold lifting heavy burdens and overwork will often develop troubles which cause no end of suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing remedy in such cases. Thousands of American women will testify to this fact who have regained health and strength by its use. If you are suffering it will pay you to give it a fair trial.

Ice Carried in Wooden Vessels. The ships employed in carrying ice from Norway to England are fast wooden boats, for a cargo of ice would not survive voyage in an iron vessel owing to the ease with which metal conducts heat.

Full-powered ATLANTIC follows through!

A gasoline that is too volatile—which contains too many of the lighter hydrocarbons of the crude petroleum—is not only subject to wasteful evaporation, but it lacks stamina. The exploding charge is expended before the piston has fairly started on its power stroke.

Atlantic follows through. It has stability as well as volatility; fullness as well as quickness; power as well as action. It is a balanced gasoline—a scientific combination having the elements needed for easy vaporization, plus a gradually rising series of heavier calorific fractions to give it high expansive force.

This balance or complete "chain of boiling points" enables every charge of Atlantic to ignite surely, burn completely and put full-powered punch into every drive of the piston.

Atlantic is made for present-day motors and for maximum efficiency under all of the conditions of speed, load and temperature under which a motor gasoline must operate.

Coal Mining In Hard Coal Field Is Held Up By Big Labor Shortage

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Oct. 18, (U. P.)—During the first thirty days of operations in the anthracite mines, after a five months suspension, production of hard coal was curtailed by a shortage of labor, drought that threatened the existence of washes and a lack of gubblers.

Operators, however, are striving to overcome the big handicaps, so that production of hard coal may reach normal proportions and the tonnage will amount to the 2,000,000 mark weekly.

Many mines in the hard coal region, comprising about 480 square miles, have been forced to close down two and three days a week because there has been no cars to haul the "black diamonds."

Box cars have been used extensively for hauling coal westward, and railroad, by placing embargoes on "slow freight," are endeavoring to place sufficient cars in mine sidings to overcome the car shortage.

During the suspension many laborers left the anthracite region to seek employment in other sections of the country. When the mines resumed operations, skilled licensed miners began cutting coal, but no laborers were available for loading the product into railroad cars.

Imports from big cities of the United States are now pouring into the mining centers at the rate of 200 a day. They are speedily instructed in the art of working shovels and operating automatic loaders.

Every coal washery in the entire hard coal region was forced to curtail operations because of a lengthy drought. Rains, however, have brought streams up and once more washeries are operating full time.

Indications are that normal production of coal will be reached by October 20.

Coal Operators Meet To Discuss Problems

A joint meeting was held yesterday at Altoona by the directors of the Central Coal association and the Bituminous Coal Operators' association at the offices of the secretary of the former association in the Lincoln Trust building, at which matters pertaining to the coal industry in the Central Pennsylvania field are being considered.

The most important business being before the officials is that of electing two representatives to the joint conference to be held in the Great Northern hotel in Chicago on Nov. 14, when methods will be formulated for the joint conference of miners and operators, to be held later to bring about an agreement on a wage scale for the ensuing year.

Other business taken up includes a consideration of the relations with and the orders of Fuel Director Suens and his field representative, Lieutenant Frank B. Conger, Jr., whose offices are located in the federal building.

The operators' representatives are also considering the question of the car shortage in the Penn's Central region and on other railroads operating in this district and it is probable that as an outcome of deliberations, the interstate commerce commission will be requested to place a representative in this field.

Pays For Pears Stolen Eighteen Years Ago

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 18. (U. P.)—A woman now a resident of Akron, Ohio, stole two pears from Mrs. Martin Coyle, resident of a suburb near here 18 years ago. Her conscience hurt her all that time until today she sent two dimes to pay for the fruit.

The young woman who was then a school girl here stole the pears on a dare according to the letter. She recently joined the Coyle family, and as the pears were the only things she had ever stolen she asked forgiveness.

Although Mrs. Coyle did not know of the incident she is dispatching a letter of forgiveness at once.
